Lifestyle Ailments are an epidemic.

India is the world's capital in lifestyle disorders. Approx. ~496 million adults suffer from at least one chronic ailment.¹

Proportion of deaths in India, from Non Communicable Diseases, increased from 37.9% in 1990 to 61.8% in 2016.¹

India stands to incur a loss of $4.58 trillion between 2012 and 2030 due to Non-Communicable Diseases (NCDs) and mental health conditions

Why the disease-based model of medicine fails our patients pressures have compromised communication and trust between physicians and patients. This, along with the surge in technologic development, has driven the medical system even further toward a “disease-based” approach to health care that views individuals as “cases” and undervalues the sociocultural and humanistic aspects of patient care. The results are a diminishing faith in the
